Traditional take-away

The most popular take-away food in Britain is not pizza, burgers or curry - it's fish and chips. There are about 8,600 fish and chips shops in the country. Each year, they sell about 60,000 tons of fish and 500,000 tons of potatoes.

Fish and chips have been the nation's favorite for more than a century. Fish and chips shops began to appear in London and the north of England around 1860. In 1928, Harry Ramsden opened his first fish and chip shop in Leeds. It was very popular, and on one day in 1952 it served 10,000 meals - a world record!

Ramsden died in 1963, but the company still exists and there are now 170 Harry Ramsden fish and chips shops around the world.

Today, fish and chips shops in Britain serve more than 300 million meals a year. They don't just sell fish. They usually sell other food too, for example, fried chicken, sausages and burgers.
